Corporate and social responsibility

SDS Protection Ltd are committed to the welfare of our stakeholders as well as humanity at large.

All our commercial activity is executed professionally and in accordance with ISO accreditation for the mutual benefit of all our customers, suppliers and whole workforce.

We embrace ethical practice throughout our business operations, whilst the safety and protection of our workforce is paramount. SDS ensure these standards are maintained through compliance to legislation, provision of safety equipment and PPE.

Environmental responsibility

Products: Amongst other developments, SDS Protection Ltd have recently launched Durablend, a new generation of ecologically sound and recyclable wall protection products which are PVC-free. This is a market leading move offering specifiers and end-users unrivalled choice.

We also always make it a priority to source supplies from companies who comply with the Forest Stewardship Councils (FSC) Chain of Custody Standards.

Premises: Supporting our environmentally friendly product stance, we are not only introducing electric vehicles into our fleet but have motion sensitive lighting in our offices besides flush-free and rainwater harvesting technologies in our rest areas. SDS persistently seeks ways in which to improve our environmental position.

BM TRADA

Our installation teams are certified to BM TRADA's exacting standards.

Key Milestones

Protecting against life's little knocks

dFendor

The dFendor range has been specifically developed to satisfy requirements in the most demanding environments.

At our factories in Hampshire and Surrey we fabricate the doorsets to meet industry recognised performance standards and fire certifications.

Investment in the latest manufacturing technology has given SDS the ability to respond quickly, whether the requirement is a multi-site project or an individual doorset.

SDS can provide encapsulated (postformed) dFendors clad in original dFend sheet or PVC free durablend sheet.

Many customers are now replacing traditional doorsets with SDS postformed dFendors. They recognise that the initial investment is outweighed by the extended life-span and practicality of these fully encapsulated doorsets.

In specifying SDS dFendors the discerning client can take advantage of our BM Trada certified installation service.

Doors in busy environments can begin to deteriorate quickly through repeated accidental collisions.

The result is a raft of secondary issues that cannot be ignored, including:

Fire Resistance – the fire rating of a doorset is compromised when tolerances around the door leaf begin to enlarge at points of repetitive strikes, thereby exceeding fire check regulations.

Hygiene – the hygienic integrity of the door and surrounding areas can be severely undermined as the door edges splinter and crumble under impact, exposing unsealed edges and disseminating flaky deposits onto nearby surfaces.

Performance – the performance of a doorset is gradually impaired as impacts resonate through the door leaf causing slump, misalignment and ironmongery malfunction.

SDS extraguard negates all these threats, protecting your vulnerable door edges year-on-year.

dFend

The original SDS Thermoplastic Sheet

In the hands of SDS, dFend thermoplastic sheet can be used for a variety of other protection purposes besides door encapsulation.

dFend sheet can be installed either as a full or half-height wall covering and its tough and impact resistant surface will serve to prevent scuffs and scrapes.

When combined with SDS durablend profiles it gives an exceptional level of protection.

dFend sheet can be used to create a design statement and is available in an attractive palette of colours. We can also match to any RAL or Pantone reference subject to minimum lead-times and order quantities.

Embedded antimicrobial properties in dFend ensure protection against the growth of bacteria and germs thereby assisting essential hygiene and infection control throughout its long lifespan.

SDS PVC-Free Wall Protection

Offering architects and specifiers a new and fresh eco-friendly PVC-free wall protection system available in a complete range of profiles and sheet products.

durablend has been designed to combat wear and tear in busy environments whilst setting new standards in both hygiene and durability.

durablend is an ecologically sound, PVC-free, recyclable product which is supported by stringent fire ratings.

durablend is also impregnated with anti-bacterial additives. It can truly be described as unique – offering protection at both the macroscopic and microscopic levels!

hydroclean

SDS Hydroclean

A versatile and hygienic wall cladding system suited to wide range of sterile and wet areas.

Hydroclean is a very practical cladding product that provides an impermeable layer over walls, doors, doorframes and ceilings.

With its anti-bacterial impregnation and inherently resilient core it admirably protects the environment into which it is fixed.

Hydroclean is the perfect wall finish for operating theatres, laboratories, kitchens, showers, bathrooms, pharmaceutical areas and leisure environments.

SDS can take care of your installation requirements with our own approved installers.

Hydroclean is available in:

- White, Pastel & Vibrance Colours
- Image Series (as pictured) ??
- Colour match service available
